

house. You ought to be able to convince him you have something he wants to buy."

"I'm on my way," you reply.

And a few hours later you step out of a taxi in front of Ivan Iordache's house.