

You step into the back of the car. Suddenly, a man you hadn't noticed before gets in next to you. The opposite door opens. You wheel around and see another man with a black hat pulled down over his forehead. They have you boxed in. Each of them is pointing a snub-nosed revolver at you. You slide into the middle of the backseat. The woman gets in front. The car speeds off. You feel a heavy blow on your head.

